Christmas is widely regarded as the best time of the year, but if you're a high school sports fan, now is the time that rivals any holiday season. For in the spring, there is a bevy of high school sports to watch and enjoy.

The weather turning warmer, hopefully, means watching our favorite prep teams outside and especially in the times we are still in, being outside brings a far more comfortable feeling. Inside, crowded gymnasiums give way to fresh air and sunshine and even a crisp, cool night once in a while is bearable if the right clothing is worn.

And there are so many sports to choose from. Baseball and softball are joined by golf, soccer, track & field and tennis during the spring season. And with the degree of talent that Randolph County has in all these sports, spring is a very fun time for fans of all ages.

And SportsTone will keep you up to date.

Can anyone really fathom what the Randleman High School baseball program has accomplished? It is unbelievable that the Tigers have advanced to at least the fourth round of the NCHSAA state tournament every year since 2010, minus the Covid-shortened 2020 season, which was canceled. Among that incredible run are state championships in 2011 and then again last season in 2021.

Of course, Randolph County has long been a top county for baseball as Asheboro. Southwestern Randolph, Providence Grove, Uwharrie Charter and Eastern Randolph have all had varied measures of success on the diamond.

And as these teams look for success this season, SportsTone will keep you up to date.

Speaking of the diamond, it would be hard to find any county in the state more impressive than Randolph County when it comes to softball. Eastern Randolph, Randleman, Southwestern Randolph and Providence Grove have had stellar programs in past years and those teams are now in the same conference along with UCA. That means exciting softball action every night.

And SportsTone will keep you up to date.

Wheatmore, Providence Grove, Asheboro and UCA all finished in the top portion of the standings last year in soccer and with the talent returning, all should be a factor in this year's race for a conference championship. Try and find the time to come out and support the girls and once again, SportsTone will keep you up to date.

In boys golf, the entire Wheatmore team advanced to the state finals as did a number of other individuals from Randolph County last season, including Eastern Randolph's Connor Carter, who captured a regional championship.

SportsTone is going to keep you up to date on their accomplishments as well.

Wheatmore, Randleman and UCA all had impressive tennis seasons last year and this year's run for a league title will be fun to watch.
