The postseason has started off great for Wheatmore as well. On Tuesday of this week, Wheatmore won their second consecutive PAC-7 Conference Tournament. Hannah Carter (Sr) won the singles title while the sister combo of Taylor Comer (Sr) and Kara Comer (Jr) took home the doubles championship. Taylor Comer and Kara Comer will continue into the regionals to play in doubles while Hannah Carter will be joined by Logan Rogers (Sr) in singles competition.

The warriors are coached by Doug Gore who is in his third season. With the reshuffling of some of the sports seasons this school year, women's tennis had their season moved from the fall to the spring. Coach Gore says that he's not seen much of a difference in playing in the spring. His team was able to get some extra practices in and he feels that helped get the warriors a lot better prepared from players 1 through 6.

When talking about his key senior players, Coach Gore had this to say about...

Hannah Carter – been there all 4 years and has been a solid starter every year. She has been the number 2 player for the last 3 years. Has been a solid 'win' and gotten better each season.

Taylor Comer – number 3 player. A solid player each year. Along with Hannah, Taylor has pushed the rest of the team into getting better.

Hailey Hartley – starter for the first time this year. Worked her way up to player number 4.

Logan Rogers – broke into the starting lineup as the number 5 player this season.

Coach Gore says that these seniors were committed to getting better and without that commitment, Wheatmore women's tennis would not be where it is today. And, that's what this group of seniors will pass on to the underclassmen.
